CRAIG STIRRED BUT NOT SHAKEN

It was more a case of Ca-sea-no Royale than Casino Royale when 007 visited Ramsgate's lifeboat crews.

None other than James Bond actor Daniel Craig took control of one of the station's two vessels while visiting volunteer crews to show his support for the charity.

A long-time supporter of the RNLI, he said: "The tireless, unassuming and above all brave work the volunteers undertake every day makes me proud and honoured to be associated with them."

Coxswain Ian Cannon said: "It was a surprise for the crew, but we were thrilled to show Daniel just what our RNLI crews do. Everyone was impressed with his knowledge and interest in the work of our charity.

"His handling of the inshore lifeboat was impressive and he was good fun to have aboard. We'd have him back any time."

A FILM-MAKER has been shocked by the strength of feeling over the concreting of Thanet's last green spaces.

When Christine Tongue's phone rang off the hook with people wanting to share their views on the island's development, she decided to make a documentary, Thanet Under Threat.

She said: "The environment of Thanet is threatened by a huge programme of over-building. All over the island, people are worried about it and feel like they are being developed to death."

The film, which uses vintage footage of the area as well as modern clips, highlights people's concerns over the scale of development in the area.

Christine received an astonishing 200 phone calls from residents worried that the island's charms are being buried under bricks and mortar.

She said: "We are amazed by the numbers of people approaching us and by what they were telling us."

"Their stories paint a picture of an island where development is out of control."

"All over Thanet, people are worried about new building near where they live."

Christine, who decided to make the film after people started contacting her with their concerns, added: "Wherever you look, there is building on what was playing fields, farmland and schools."

"It's all being threatened by the drive to build new houses. The island is just going to be covered in houses at this rate and people are really worried about it."

Thanet Under Threat will premiere just a

DISGRACE: An astonishing scene photographed this week in the centre of Ramsgate

The grim price of fly-tipping

FLY-TIPPING is costing Thanet more than any other district in the county.

■ BY TOM BETTS

Figures from DEFRA's Ministry For Environment and Local Government show that in 2006/7 the problem cost the local council £538,286.

The next highest figure in Kent was Maidstone council's £195,047.

As for the number of incidents, there were 12,746 recorded dumpings in Thanet. Swale, with 2,708, was the next worst affected.

No successful prosecutions were brought in Thanet, a fact which prompted an attack from Cllr Elizabeth Green, Labour's local environment spokesman. She said: "The awful record on dealing with fly-tipping is on the streets for all to see."

"The council is failing to prosecute offenders or to adopt any measures other councils are using."

"The council knows town centres in Margate, Broadstairs and Ramsgate have the biggest fly-tipping problems yet it refuses to bring forward a strategy for those areas."

"It's horrendous. An incomparable amount of money is being spent on this because Thanet council is simply not dealing with the issue."

"Residents in Eastcliff even started their own recycling programme, which shows how desperate people are to have those facilities."

"If the council wasn't wasting so much money on this, then they could spend it on providing facilities for many thousands of people in all the town centre wards."

However, a district council spokesman said the incidents figure was so high because, unlike most other councils in the county, Thanet recorded all incidents of removal, big or small.

She said: "The majority of authorities only log fly-tipping incidents when they are of significant size."

"By comparison, we log all incidents where we pick up material from streets, back alleys, land and rural roads, except where these are picked up as part of normal domestic collections."

"This includes some larger events, but the majority relate to black bags, particularly in the urban area. This means we get hugely more individual events than other authorities."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Fishermen's explosive discoveries continue

TWO fishermen with a strange knack of hauling up unexploded mines caught yet another last week.

Phil Edwards and James Green from Whitstable landed their third piece of ordnance in eight weeks off the coast of Margate on Wednesday.

The fishermen caught it in the gear of their trawler Millenia and called the coastguard before letting the device, a German parachute mine dropped into the sea by the Luftwaffe during World War Two, sink back down into the depths.

The pair left a marker buoy for a team of Navy bomb disposal experts to find it the next day.

However, on Thursday, when an explosion to detonate the mine failed, it was temporarily lost.

It was eventually detonated on Saturday afternoon in a controlled explosion about a mile offshore.

Lifboat crews assisted the Royal Navy team.

Academic achievement

ST GEORGE'S Church of England Foundation School principal Keith Rumblo will congratulate his students on a fine academic year next week.

The head will point to the Broadstairs school's "impressive" results at GCSE level and the establishment's unity and strength as the reason it has become one of the top-performing high schools in Kent, and the best in Thanet.

The school's annual speech day, on Thursday, November 15, takes place in front of parents, teachers, friends and school governors.

Chris Wells, KCC cabinet member for children, families and education, will be on hand to hand out certificates and prizes to winning students.

'People must unite to fight this building'

week after the final edit was completed at Christine's Broadstairs studio.

Development in Westwood, the loss of green spaces and numerous building projects in Ramsgate, Margate and Broadstairs are among items featured in the 65-minute film.

It also illustrates how residents determined to stop development in their area are uniting to put the brakes on some projects.

Christine said: "People are beginning to see that a block of flats being built in the garden next door, a housing estate on farmland, or a school being demolished to make way for luxury apartments is part of the same problem and that they have to unite to fight it."

Impassioned residents, as well as local politicians including Thanet South MP Dr Steve Ladyman, Tory rival candidate Laura Sandys and Green Party Euro MP Caroline Lucas were interviewed for Thanet Under Threat.

The film screens for the first time at 7.30pm at the Granville cinema, Ramsgate, on Saturday.

Tickets are £3 and the screening will be followed by a debate.

Legendary heroes, every one of them

Book honours defenders of wartime skies

OVER AND OUT: This German Messerschmitt was shot down in fields just outside Ramsgate during the Battle of Britain

■ BY TOM BETTS

A NEW book, The Heroes of Fighter Command: Kent, has just been published in time for this year's Remembrance Sunday.

It tells the story of the band of pilots who Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill described as "The Few" and their achievement in beating off the might of the Nazi Luftwaffe in the summer of 1940 – and so halting the threat of a British invasion by Adolf Hitler's forces.

The Battle of Britain was fought largely in the skies above Kent and the story of the handful of RAF heroes has been documented by author Rupert Matthews – whose father flew Blenheim bombers targeting the invasion forces during the battle.

"I focused on Kent because it was the busiest county when it comes to the battle with airfields like Manston in the front line.

"What struck me most of all during my research was the way the pilots kept going, day after day, week after week, month after month.

"It was all on such a grinding scale – constantly flying up to engage the enemy and then the risk of being bombed while still on the ground.

"The way those pilots and their ground crews coped – up against overwhelming odds on a continual basis – I found truly inspiring."

Kent's squadrons first saw action on November 21, 1939, when two Hurricane fighter pilots were on patrol over Folkestone.

They spotted a German Dornier on a reconnaissance mission and sent it crashing into the sea, trailing smoke.

The initial attacks by enemy bombers focused on Channel convoys and radar stations, with the airfields then coming under attack.

But the Luftwaffe switched its attention to cities on the orders of Hitler after an RAF plane bombed Berlin – just at a time when the fighter bases and the command centres were on the verge of collapse.

Eventually the attackers suffered such severe losses that they stopped the daily raids – but it would be five years before the Nazi jackboot was brought to heel by the Allies.

Numerous memorials to the battle, both well known and unheralded, dot our countryside.

The statue of a fighter pilot and a replica Hurricane and Spitfire draw thousands of people a year to a site just outside Folkestone.

The former fighter station at Manston also has a Spitfire and a Hurricane museum – as well as a garden dedicated to the Allied airmen.

"Kent has remembered its heroes and my book pays tribute to them," said Mr Matthews. "It is a tribute to the gallant young men who flew sortie after sortie against desperate odds – heroes every one of them."

• The Heroes of Fighter Command: Kent is published by Countryside Books, price £11.99.

Taxing lessons for migrants

THE importance of paying council tax is the subject of workshops for migrants who have settled in the area.

The workshops will be translated into Czech and Polish and will highlight the need to pay council tax and its important function for the community.

Run by Thanet council's revenues department and the Migrant Helpline's European Migrant Consultancy, the workshops are funded by the Safer Stronger Communities Fund.

The sessions must be booked in advance by phoning 07813 795524.

They are held at St Paul's Community Centre, Cliftonville, from 4-6.30pm on November 13 and 27, December 11 and 18, January 15 and 29, February 12 and 26 and March 18.

Cllr Martin Wise, the council's cabinet member for finance, improvement and customer services, said: "Council tax collection is one of the most important functions of this council.

"We're holding these workshops to ensure migrants realise how the system works and how the money is used."

Tomb once again sees light of day

AN IMPORTANT part of Ramsgate's heritage has been restored to its former glory.

The three-month restoration of the tomb of Augustus Pugin is now complete, and the Pugin chantry window above it has been cleaned for the first time in more than 25 years.

Inside St Augustine's Abbey, the historical tomb's alabaster surrounds have been restored and the masonry repaired after years of decay.

Sills around the window and the alabaster surrounds of the tomb were also worked on after the huge stained glass window was cleaned by Canterbury Cathedral Glass.

The restorations were paid for by parishioners, the Colyer Fergusson Trust, local group Cantate and the Pugin Society.

Pugin designed and built the church next to his family home, The Grange, after converting to Catholicism in 1835.

Parish priest Father Benedict Austen said: "It was shedding dust and the stonework was rotting with sand and stone falling away, so it was important to repair it."

• See Yourthanet.co.uk for a picture of Augustus Pugin's tomb.

Man harassed his ex-girlfriend with 200 texts

LOVELORN Aaron Thornton was so obsessed with former girlfriend Daniele Haddock when she dumped him that he bombarded her with 200 text messages, a court was told.

Thornton, 19, of Bradley Road, Ramsgate, kept ringing her mother's phone and continually cruised in his car outside her house.

The string of calls resulted in a visit to Thanet magistrates court, where Thornton admitted harassment.

Elizabeth Baker, prosecuting, said the couple split up on Friday, October 19, but Thornton could not accept the fact.

"He started telephoning her and sending texts. He sat outside her house hooting his car horn," said Ms Baker.

"When interviewed, he said he couldn't help himself."

Natalie Brown, defending, said Daniele had been sending loving texts herself.

She said: "She's been playing yo-yo with his feelings. She has been playing games with him.

"She got a new boyfriend and then said she would leave him for Mr Thornton but didn't."

Miss Brown said Thornton ended up in custody when the pair met in the car park of a Broadstairs pub, breaking his bail conditions.

During a heated exchange a man with Daniele kicked a door panel on Thornton's car.

Miss Brown said: "She spent the night with him after they were supposed to have split up.

"She was usually keen on him around pay day, but when he didn't have money she wasn't interested. Mr Thornton now realises he has been incredibly stupid."

Magistrates gave Thornton a 12-month conditional discharge and put a restraining order on him preventing contact with Miss Haddock.

He was ordered to pay £60 costs.

Teen fought the law, but the law won

A BARRISTER quoted iconic punk band The Clash in a vain attempt to stop a 16-year-old-youth from being sent to a detention centre.

Edmund Bird was defending the youth, who was accused of attempting to steal lead from the roof of Burton's Ramsgate branch, together with 20-year-old Simon Thistlewood, formerly of Broadstairs.

Both admitted the attempted theft and both were given six months behind bars.

The youth, from Haringay, had been put in a Ramsgate care home and was already the subject of a supervision order imposed for stealing more lead in Ramsgate.

Mr Bird said: "To misquote The Clash, my client fought the law and the law won."

The pair were seen by CCTV operators climbing the fire escape stairs at the back of the building in Ramsgate on March 16.

Police officers went up the fire escape and found the pair with a pile of lead, a Stanley knife and a large hall.

Cannabis

Thistleton, who has since moved to South Wales, said the pair had gone on to the fire escape to smoke cannabis. Someone had borrowed the knife from his father and was bringing it back.

Judge Adele Williams, sentencing the 16-year-old to six months in a youth custody centre and Thistlewood to six months in a detention centre, said: "It is clear you were completely out of control. In the 16-year-old's case, this offence occurred while on bail for other offences."

"In my judgement this was a deliberate attempt to steal lead. Neither of you has shown the slightest remorse. The only sentence I can pass is custody."

East Kent hospitals among the cleanest

SUPERBUG rates in east Kent hospitals are among the lowest in the country, thanks to a team of infection control specialists

Rates of deadly superbugs such as MRSA and Clostridium difficile have been falling constantly at the QEQM in Margate, the Kent and Canterbury and the William Harvey in Ashford since the Government first introduced targets in 2005.

In the case of MRSA, a strict screening programme targeting high-risk groups is carried out to identify people carrying the bug as they are admitted to hospital.

MRSA is carried harmlessly inside the nose by a small percentage of the population, but it can cause deadly infections if immune systems are weak and it is allowed to enter the body during surgery.

Debbie Weston, clinical nurse specialist for infection control and prevention, said: "We scan people coming from nursing and residential homes, other hospitals and people who have been in hospital in the last 12 months because these are the high-risk groups."

Swabs are taken from the patients' noses and groins, and these are sent away to be analysed, which takes 48-72 hours.

If someone is found to be carrying MRSA, they are kept in single rooms away from other patients and are kept out of high-risk areas such as intensive care wards.

Treatment

Mrs Weston said: "This does not delay their treatment, which goes ahead as normal, but if they are carriers they will be treated with a cream applied to the inside of the nose."

She said 'C-diff', which killed 90 Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells NHS Trust patients between April 2004 and September 2006, cannot be scanned for in the same way as MRSA.

"C-diff lives in the bowels of about five per cent of the population and doesn't cause any problems," said Mrs Weston. "But when someone is treated with antibiotics for another complaint, and the good bugs are killed, C-diff isn't affected and it grows and becomes the dominant bug which causes severe diarrhoea."

This had led to strict monitoring of antibiotic treatment within the trust to ensure patients are not prescribed unnecessary drugs which could lead to runaway C-diff infection.

Mrs Weston said: "It's the elderly who are going to be most at risk as they do not have the resources to cope with infection."

Fortunately the precautions have worked, and the trust boasts C-diff levels which are less than half the national average of 2.5 per 1,000 bed days.

Mrs Weston said: "There is a huge public expectation that all infection is avoidable, but unfortunately it isn't. It's about preventing those that are avoidable."

"People are frightened of coming into hospital and shaking hands with someone because they think they might catch MRSA, which is just one bug that can live harmlessly on your skin."

"Preventing infection is about being thorough and it's about being pro-active. We look at the evidence and act on it."

MARK OF A VANDAL

GRAFFITI vandals spraying and scribbling their way across Thanet are leaving a trail of paint and marker pen ink in their wake.

The writing is always on the wall for the district council, which spends thousands of pounds a year fighting to keep the streets free of the problem, employing people on day work to remove the daubings that deface both public and private properties.

Indeed, removing graffiti has cost Thanet council £29,500 this financial year alone.

Two of the worst-hit stretches are around The Vale, Gladstone Road and Osborne Road in Broadstairs and the Newington estate and Whitehall Road in Ramsgate.

Birchington seafront and Beresford Gap are also often targeted and the railway bridge by Minnis Bay is frequently hit.

In Margate, Hartsdown Park and Meregate suffer, while the locked and fenced-off courtyard at Margate's Arlington House is particularly blighted.

THE FIGHT IS ON: Protestors will be gathering at Minnis Bay post office in the struggle against its closure

'Join battle to save our post office'

A PUBLIC protest against proposed post office closures will take place on Saturday.

Organisers are urging as many people as possible to turn up and show their concern from 10.45am on Saturday outside the Minnis Bay post office in Minnis Road, Birchington.

Birchington parish councillor John Worrow is one of the organisers.

He said: "If everyone who reads this can tell their friends and family who, in turn, can tell theirs. Then we can gather to raise more awareness of the issue and make a real statement.

"Birchington is the biggest village in Kent with a population of 7,000 and it needs two post offices to serve the community.

"The Minnis Bay branch is vital to the elderly in the area because of its location."

He added: "After so many calls, letters and emails about this, it was decided that we should hold a public protest on a Saturday when more people should be able to come along.

"This will give the people of Kent a last chance to show how they feel about proposed closures – I appeal to everyone to come and join us, it really can make a difference."

■ BY TOM BETTS

Meanwhile, Thanet South MP Steve Ladyman says he has received 203 responses to his survey on the future of Cliffsend post office.

He wrote to hundreds of people who live around post offices threatened with closure in Thanet but had the biggest response from Cliffsend residents.

He received 35 from Woodnesborough, and in Ramsgate there were 87 from Bellevue Road and 37 from Grange Road.

He said: "The feedback I've received will allow me to build a constructive response to the consultation for all branches affected."

"If the efforts to write have an influence, it will be worth it."

They are two of the Morris men who form just one of the central attractions of the popular music festival.

Elderly have chance to air views at forum

THE concerns of the elderly will be heard at a meeting of Thanet Senior Citizens Forum.

Pensioners are invited to attend and discuss issues such as policing, transport and health, which were the main topics raised at the last meeting of the forum in February.

The meeting starts at 2pm on Wednesday, November 21, at Holy Trinity Church in Cliftonville.

Chief Superintendent Peter West will answer questions regarding policing, while KCC highways officer Ray Ball will be on hand to talk about transport.

The Turner Contemporary's John Haywood will talk about this arts project and Tammy Stewart-Jones will give a speech about the Thanet Fairtrade initiative.

Organiser Barry Coppock said: "The officers will be reporting back on the issues raised at the AGM in February. I urge people to come along as by joining together we can have an influence and achieve more."

For more information, phone Barry Coppock on 01843 864487.

Cinema closure is a reel loss for Margate seafront

DREAMLAND cinema on Margate seafront closed its doors for the final time last week.

The art-deco building, opened in 1935, has shut following the announcement of a new multiplex at Westwood Cross.

A spokesman for the cinema said: "The company feel they can't stand the onslaught of the brand new multiplex opening on November 15.

"Dreamland would lose a lot of its audience to the new cinema and wouldn't have survived."

The final film was the 1957 British comedy The Smallest Show on Earth, starring Peter Sellers and Virginia McKenna.

It tells the story of a couple who inherit an ailing cinema only to see their attempts to turn around its fortunes come to nothing.

The title was seen as the most appropriate to Dreamland's plight.

Woman killed in car crash

A MARGATE woman has been killed in a car accident in north-east England.

Hilda Amelia Hickman, 68, of Garlinge High Street, died after a two-car accident and was pronounced dead at the scene.

Her car collided with an Audi driven by a 41-year-old man in Buttsfield, near Consett, Durham, on Wednesday last week.

The crash happened at about 7.40pm on the A68.

The driver of the other car was treated for a minor chest injury.

Police survey to gang up on youth crime culture

AN IN-DEPTH survey into what makes young people join gangs is being undertaken by Kent police.

An online survey to be launched later this month will look into lifestyle choices made by teenagers as well as their attitudes to peer pressure and social issues.

Police officers will visit schools and talk to young people to raise awareness of the survey. Three main types of groups are being studied – delinquent groups, more organised gangs, and organised criminal networks.

Assistant Chief Constable Adrian Leppard said: "We need to understand this phenomenon, which is problematic in other areas of the country."

"We want to find out what motivates gangs and how they work."

"By talking to young people, bringing professionals together and carrying out this research, we can take measures to try to prevent this problem appearing in Kent."

QUESTION & ANSWER

KLARE KENNETT

Q How did you get involved with the RSPCA?

A My background is journalism, but I have also always been passionate about animal welfare. When I saw the RSPCA role advertised, it seemed the ideal job for me. I am able to use my knowledge of the media to help promote kindness to animals and prevent cruelty.

Q Have people's attitudes towards animal welfare improved or worsened in recent years?

A In many ways, attitudes towards animal welfare have improved in recent years. For a start, according to an RSPCA report published this month measuring the state of animal welfare in the UK, the proportion of people who feel for a society to be truly civilised animal welfare must be a key priority has leapt from 54 per cent to 73 per cent in the last year.

We also know six out of 10 people think supermarkets should stop selling eggs laid by hens in cages, but more than six out of 10 eggs still come from hens kept in this way, so there is plenty of room for improvement.

There has been a huge increase in the number of meat chickens raised to higher-welfare standards, quadrupling from 10 million in 2004 to more than 40 million this year. However, this is still less than five per cent of the market.

We see that as few as one in five pet shops selling 'exotic' animals such as snakes and primates offer free written information to customers. People buying pets have a legal responsibility to look after them properly, and accessible information from pet shops would help them do this.

Good news is that the number of wild-caught birds imported into the EU has plummeted from 72,000 in 2003 to 11 last year, following a ban. But the number of wild-caught reptiles imported has increased from 11,000 to 18,400 which is worrying.

Q What single practice would you like to see banned?

A I would like to see the extremely cruel and disturbing practice of using primates for research to be banned immediately. We are slowly getting that way, as in the past few weeks MEPs categorically backed a call to bring an end to the use of primates in research.

In the 21st century there should be no room for experimenting on primates. We know these animals are highly intelligent and they can suffer in very similar ways to humans.

There should be new laws which include a clear strategy for replacing primates with humane alternatives.

Q What is the biggest challenge facing the world at present?

A Achieving world peace and seeing an end to poverty and famine. It is incredible that world travel is so accessible to most of the developed world, but still so many people living on this planet are starving to death. A huge challenge facing the world is the issue of cruelty – research has shown that people who carry out vicious attacks on other people often begin by being cruel to animals.

Q Is there anything we can do about it?

A I believe that world peace begins at home and if we start being kinder to each other then we have taken the first important step towards world peace. An act of kindness can make all the difference in the world to someone's day and such acts cause a ripple effect. A thoughtless, cruel remark can hurt badly and have a negative ripple effect. Tiny changes, but if we all thought more about the effect of our actions on other people, then we would not consider waging war on them.

In terms of poverty and famine, it is obscene that so much food is thrown away every day when so many people are starving to death.

In terms of cruelty, the RSPCA is working hard to get the message of kindness, not cruelty, to every schoolchild in this country through our education programme.

Q How big do you think your carbon footprint is?

A I walk wherever I can, rather than use the car, and try to conserve energy at home as much as possible. I recycle everything I can religiously and I also buy local produce as much as possible.

Klare Kennett, the RSPCA's South East regional press officer, spends her time promoting the work of the society. Here she talks to Gareth Arnold about the changing public attitudes towards animal welfare.

Thanet has never looked so good!

A new book has just been launched which zooms in on the beautiful details that make up the Isle of Thanet. Over 300 colour photos showcase the Isle's curious buildings, monuments and memorials, revealing Thanet's amazing and often unnoticed facets and facades. Birchington author Stuart Horner and his wife Sarah have teamed up and turned their attention (and camera) towards Thanet. Over the last twelve months they have compiled and produced the book titled 'So you think you know the Isle of Thanet?'.

"As we were both born on the Isle of Thanet and have lived and worked here most of our lives, we thought we knew the area fairly well. Yet when it came to photographing Thanet we had to admit to being stunned by the variety and beauty around us.

We hope the pictures will also inspire visitors and residents alike to gain a deeper knowledge of the area. These contemporary images can be used as a slightly unconventional guide book or a light hearted quiz.

Ultimately the book is rather like a jigsaw puzzle. When all of the pieces are identified and finally locked together they reveal a wonderful overall impression."

Mountie in the county focuses on safe option

■ BY ED HILL

A TOP Mountie came to Kent this week to share the secret of how they always get their man.

Superintendent Ward Clapham said getting communities to embrace policing was the key to their success in making cities safe.

The senior Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer was the guest speaker at a community safety conference at Ashford International Hotel on Friday.

He told representatives from Kent police, Kent Fire and Rescue Service, Kent County Council and several other councils from across the county about the Mounties' philosophy in reducing crime.

Supt Clapham is the leader of the third largest force in Canada, which is based in Richmond, British Columbia.

Richmond is on one of the islands that make up part of the Greater Vancouver Regional District.

Mike Hill, KCC's community services chief, said: "This is an annual event that we put on in conjunction with the Kent police authority.

"Supt Clapham is recognised across the world as a specialist in this area. We were very interested in hearing what he had to tell us.

"He is very active in implementing the philosophy behind community policing at all levels. This is something they take very seriously in Canada."

The superintendent's area of E division is densely populated by Canadian standards.

The city has been subject to a large amount of immigration since the 1990s, and 50 per cent of its population come from an Asian background. The city has been recognised as one of the safest in Canada.

Mr Hill said: "We are very concerned with this area.

FEEL THE FORCE: Superintendent Ward Clapham of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police came to Kent to share his experiences

"The way forward is for communities to get involved in their own policing. It is up to all of us to help the police wherever we can. That was the theme of the conference.

"We want to find ways that all community organisations can work together, which includes the police, local councils, fire and rescue services and other groups."

Supt Clapham said: "I have been with the mounted police for 27 years. I am sure we can learn a lot from each other.

"For example, here in the UK you have much tougher legislation, allowing you to deal with high-risk offenders that I think we could adopt back home."

As part of his visit, Supt Clapham accompanied police community support officers and community wardens on their rounds in Meopham, near Gravesend.

He said: "The role of PCSOs and community wardens is something I am really keen to learn more about. We do not have anything like them in Canada.

"I think that there are times when it is not necessary to have a fully qualified officer dealing with problems. These people can engage more quickly with the people in their community."

The community safety unit in Ashford has been recognised as a service that could suffer cuts because of recent budget constraints on local councils from central government.

The sex criminals 'still a danger to our children'

KENT has the sixth highest number of sex offenders in the UK – according to figures published this week.

The county has a total of 49 people who have committed a serious sex offence such as rape or assault on a child.

All are classified as Level Three offenders – which means they have served a prison sentence but can never be considered safe.

They are mainly housed in hostels and their identities concealed.

The greatest number, 158, are resident in the Greater Manchester area.

Michele Elliott, director of children's charity Kidscape, said: "Level Three offenders in particular will continue to be a danger to children – and I bet none of the Government ministers or people working in this field have these offenders living next door to them."

Nationally, 1,201 offenders are housed. All are meant to be under the scrutiny of multi-agency public protection arrangements and social workers.

Kent has a better record when it comes to knife crime, ranking 15th in a nationwide survey of crime statistics.

Figures show that during April, May and June this year, 79 offences were reported in the county, whereas in London 1,580 knife crimes were recorded.

Gang culture put in the spotlight of police study

A STUDY into why young people choose to join gangs will be carried out by Kent police.

The online survey will be launched this month and look into lifestyle choices made by teenagers, as well as focus on their attitudes to peer pressure and social issues.

Police officers will also visit schools and talk to young people to raise awareness.

Three main types of groups are being studied – delinquent groups, organised gangs, and organised criminal networks.

Assistant Chief Constable Adrian Lepard said: "We need to understand this phenomenon, which is problematic in other areas of the country.

"By carrying out this research, we can take measures to try to prevent this problem appearing in Kent."

Each week we get a mystery writer to air their views on living on the Isle of Thanet...

Don't go parking mad over space outside your house

WE have all heard of road rage and perhaps you assume the enraged must be behind the steering wheel. Not at all.

The anger can often be simmering in someone peering out from behind a net curtain. There is nothing like on-street parking to raise the ire of the neighbourhood.

OK, so late-night parties, noise, or even just parties, get some people's goat. There was also a large amount of venom projected in our direction over the fence when we had a bonfire.

Nothing, however, compares to the number of complaints about vehicles parked in our street.

Did you know you should not park opposite or within 10 metres of a junction? After it was pointed out to us, we realised that we were obstructing the view of pedestrians and drivers at the junction, making it more dangerous. We were not being deliberately selfish, we simply had not realised. We are now more considerate – we do not park on street corners.

We do not live in a narrow street of terraced houses where you can imagine parking space is limited. We live in a wide street of detached houses, most of which have driveways and garages. The 'home is a castle' mentality in this area extends to thinking of the roadway as a moat to be defended against enemy invasion.

In fact, there are only two families in our street who have to resort to on-street parking – and we are one of them. Usually, we park outside our house, naturally. Occasionally, we have visitors, or when we return home our usual stop is obstructed, possibly by a delivery driver. What would you do? Perhaps park as close as you can to the destination? That is what we do.

On numerous occasions many neighbours in this street (both sides of the road) have requested that we refrain from parking outside their homes. I do not know if they have conferred on this, but if I am to keep them all happy then I would be parking in the next street (which I often do).

Visitors to the street have had notes left on their cars: "Please do not park outside of my house, it is inconvenient for us when we return home from work..." These requests have also been made face to face. My curtain-flickering neighbours rush out of their fortresses at the first sign of an offending motorist.

I have skimmed through the Highway Code and I can not find any reason that a road-worthy car that is covered by tax and insurance can not be parked along this street, so long as it is not near the junction, and not obstructing the dropped kerbs.

If any readers of this blog can identify with this roadside protection behaviour, I would urge them to let go: there is no sense in wasting energy over something that you can not control, ie who parks where on the road.

I have known of people in other areas (Whitstable) to have elaborate car manoeuvring rituals which involve parking an old car on the street all day to protect the coveted space outside a house while another car is in motion (at work). Meanwhile, the driveway is empty.

I will park outside your house if I want to.

Green Party warns of commuter misery

GREEN PARTY campaigners say they are concerned at delays in plans to improve commuter railway services – claiming that travellers face a decade of rail misery.

New carriages have been promised by rail companies and the infrastructure is set for improvement under a Government initiative to promote rail travel.

The move is part of an overall environmental strategy aimed at cutting down on carbon emissions.

But the latest official estimates say the Crossrail scheme – which will connect parts of London to the main regional network – will not be operational until 2017.

Thameslink services, which will link Kent's lines to the rest of the UK network, are also behind schedule and will not be ready until 2015, it is feared.

Rail bosses say the delays are necessary to avoid problems when the lines do become operational.

But Dr Hazel Dawe, of Kent Green Party, said the decisions should have been taken far earlier to bring services on line much more quickly.

She said: "Rising rail use and insufficient seats in the rush hour means Kent's rail commuters face a working decade of ever more unpleasant rail journey experiences."

"Given climate change and the imminent peaking of global oil supplies, Government investment in public transport alternatives to the private car should have occurred years ago."

Parents steer children into wrong exams

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

PUSHY parents suffering from 'academic snobbery' are leading thousands of children each year down the wrong educational path, according to research from industry expert group Edge.

The group's in-depth study found more than half of parents in Kent blindly nudge their youngsters towards taking A-levels and going on to university, despite knowing nothing about many of the other options available.

The Parents Panel – made up of more than 5,000 parents with children aged between 11 and 16 – uncovered a host of ill-informed traditional viewpoints, ingrained prejudices and much more besides.

Almost half of those questioned said they would urge their child to take A-levels over equivalents such as BTEC qualifications, which only 18 per cent would consider at all.

Almost twice as many people – 35 per cent – went so far as to say that vocational courses, such as plumbing, motor mechanics and midwifery, were only for pupils who failed to shine in core subjects at school.

These out-of-date beliefs have had a devastating effect on the choices made by school-leavers.

More than one in five teenagers and young professionals told the group they had taken a wrong turn in their education and more than a third of those questioned laid the blame for that squarely at their parents' door.

Almost 40 per cent of youngsters said they would take A-levels partly because their parents wanted them to go to university.

CHOICES: There are other options than just A-levels

Garry Hawkes, chairman of Edge, said he wanted to use the Parents Panel findings to tackle the traditional bias against vocational qualifications, which currently results in too many people evaluating personal success by academic achievements.

This, he said, contributed to the feeling of 18 per cent of parents stating they would be disappointed if their child ended up in a practical career.

Mr Hawkes said: "We've been concerned for some time at how academic snobbery is influencing the lives of young people and our research shows the unfortunate truth that it has resulted in thousands of young people being directed down the wrong route every year, and therefore being turned off learning."

"Parents naturally want to do what's best for their child, but by their own admission they aren't armed with all the facts about the learning options available and this is costing some young people dearly. We're challenging all parents to stop thinking of academic qualifications as the only route to success."

Edge has launched a scheme called Another Way Forward for parents to consider other options – visit www.edge.co.uk for details.

Shock jocks at Invicta tell their deepest secrets

■ BY GARY WRIGHT

PSST! Want to hear a secret? Want to see your favourite radio presenters confess all?

Then make sure you tune in to top Kent commercial radio station Invicta FM next week – and then log on to our free broadband online TV channel www.yourkenttv.co.uk.

Bosses at the top station have ordered a host of its biggest names to confess their deepest secrets on camera in one of the most revealing stunts the station has ever staged.

And best of all, you can watch the likes of breakfast show king and queen James Heming and Ali Wheeler spill the beans on our website.

An insider at the hits-heavy radio station revealed: "In many cases listeners to the DJs' shows will, for the first time, be able to see the presenters and look into their eyes as they reveal some of their worst moments."

Shocking

"This is going to be surprising, embarrassing and shocking. It's a brilliant idea. The presenters have to tell fans something about themselves that they could never find out any other way. And the best part about it all is that it is all helping raise money for disadvantaged children."

Every confession will be broadcast on Yourkenttv.co.uk from next Monday. KOS Media, publishers of this newspaper and broadcasters of Yourkenttv – will give £1 to the Help a Kent Child for every person that registers that week.

Registration is completely free and not only will members be able to upload their own video clips, they will also receive e-editions of our newspapers completely free.

The station has adopted the charity which raises funds to help disadvantaged young people to fulfil dreams and ambitions they would never have thought possible.

There are many children in Kent who experience the negative effects of poverty, abuse, neglect, homelessness, violence, crime, illness and disability; who are carers for their own parents or who are indirect victims of domestic violence or suffer daily pain due to illness.

In this world of glamour and gain, these are the children Invicta FM and KOS Media want to help.

Nationwide battle to save post offices

MEDWAY council bosses were yesterday expected to kick-start a national campaign to save the country's post offices.

It is thought cabinet members would back plans to form an all-party delegation charged with spurring the Local Government Association to fight Royal Mail's proposed cutbacks.

More than 2,500 branches across the UK – including 58 in Kent – risk being axed in the first wave of savings as the postal service looks to turn its financial fortunes around.

The Medway council leader has already voiced his concerns over the proposals, writing to Royal Mail last month to register his objection.

Cllr Rodney Chambers wrote: "The proposals are particularly ill-thought given that Medway's population is set to grow by 50,000 during the next 10 years, with a resultant requirement for greater access to post office services, not less."

The Royal Mail's six week consultation period on their proposals ends on Monday.

yourkenttv.co.uk

Breakfast show presenters James and Ali were the first to be caught by our camera crew. Ali said: "I took a deep breath and just let it all come out."

Next the camera team cornered daytime presenter Claire Lawson, who admitted her worst moment.

Claire, who is on air every weekday between 10am and 2pm, said: "It was a shock to be confronted, but I realised I had no choice. I'm not sure what the listeners will make of it!"

Afternoon show presenter Andy Walker initially refused to reveal anything more about himself, but as station bosses put their foot down the truth finally came out.

"I just hope my mum doesn't see it," he said.

Drivetime presenter Neil Kefford was prepared and he just told the truth.

"There was no other way," he said.

Evening presenter Stephen Sullivan almost escaped, but no-one could be left out and he too was forced to reveal all.

So get ready for a week of surprises and a few red faces too – and for once you'll be able to see the fear in their eyes!

• Log on from Monday at www.yourkenttv.co.uk.

From a life-long love of silent movies, Paul Merton is now sharing his passion of early comedy in a compelling new live show

Clowning
around*PAUL MERTON'S
SILENT CLOWNSFriday, November 16
Assembly Hall Theatre,
Tunbridge Wells

■ BY JAMES RAMPTON

SILENCE is golden, according to Paul Merton, and he wants to share his love of mute clowns with audiences in Kent.

After 17 years as a team captain on the hugely popular panel show Have I Got News For You, Merton has mastered the art of comic chat. But what first ignited his love of comedy?

Merton, 50, gives an instant reply; silent movies.

"It all goes back to when I was 14," recalls the comic. "I went to the local cinema to see The General, Buster Keaton's classic 1927 silent film, which was accompanied by a live piano player. Even though the movie was at that point 50 years old, I was amazed by the power it still possessed. 'Wow,' I thought, 'how on earth did he do that?' I came out of the cinema walking on air."

And so a lifelong love affair with silent movies was born.

That relationship has now come to fruition with Paul Merton's Silent Clowns, a compelling new live show, during which Merton, an acknowledged expert, will screen extracts from the best silent comedians in some of their funniest films.

In the second half of the show, Paul will introduce a screening of Harold Lloyd's deathless silent masterpiece, Safety Last!. The film delivers a marvellously engaging combination of thrills and laughs which is as potent today as it was when the movie was first released in 1923. Perhaps the most stunning aspect of the movie is that it contains not a single special effect.

The screening of Safety Last! will be accompanied by pianist Neil Brand, who has gained worldwide renown over the past 25 years for his dazzling, virtuoso performances at silent movies at the NFT and at film festivals across the globe.

Audiences today are astonished by the bravery of the silent movie stars who did all their own stunts. The era was a health and safety nightmare and Merton is certain the likes of Keaton and Lloyd would not be allowed to make films today.

"But that only adds to their brilliance," he insists. "Look at that most famous stunt in Steamboat Bill Jr., where the house falls on Keaton and he is saved by standing in the space left by the window. He was unbelievably brave."

Merton's love of silent movies has in fact already manifested itself in his own wordless film, The Suicidal Dog, and he would love to direct again.

"I think about making films all the time," he concludes. "It's what I'd love to do above all else, but at the moment I'm too busy. However, if everything else stopped, then I could really concentrate on directing a movie. I really appreciate the success I've had, but I'd swap it all if I could direct one really good, intelligent movie that didn't treat its audience like morons and still worked in twenty years time."

Paul Merton's Silent Clowns starts at 8pm and tickets cost £14.50. To book, call 01892 530613/532072 or visit the website at www.assemblyhall-theatre.co.uk.

TALK TIME

DAVE HANCOCK

Dave Hancock is a fisherman and the owner of Ramsgate angling business Kent Charter Fishing

Tell us a little about what you do and where you do it, Dave

I run the angling charter boat Excel 2 from Ramsgate Royal Harbour. My job involves taking people to sea for angling days out and sightseeing around our beautiful coastline. I consider myself very fortunate to be doing this – it's a privilege to be working in such a wonderful and diverse environment and incredibly rewarding when someone who's a novice catches their first fish.

Tell us why you choose to work in Thanet and what you like about it

Running the boat out of Ramsgate's royal harbour has advantages for myself and for my customers. We have no tidal restrictions and board the boat from level pontoons – no slippery steps here!

There is a good selection of cafés for breakfast, a well-stocked tackle shop and all the facilities of a well-run marina, plus many bars, restaurants and hotels for gentle rest and relaxation on our return.

Do you think the fishing industry is in a good or bad state at the moment?

The fishing over the last few years has been slowly improving in our area. Is it global warming, or are the restrictions on the commercial fleet starting to pay off – who knows? What I do know is that we now have some great summer sport fishing inshore and out on the many wrecks that litter the English Channel. The winter cod fishing is recovering to levels we last saw 10 years ago.

All this bodes well for the future – it's not all doom and gloom. Come out for the day, have some fun and see Thanet from a new angle.

YOUR LETTERS

Don't be childish, leave pub dogs be

I was reading about the number of dogs in the Royal Albion Hotel in Broadstairs.

Well, don't let the under-fives in! They run around the floor with their chips like a load of wild animals screaming.

All the dogs I've seen in there never run around – they go under the table or sit beside their owners.

Kids belong in McDonalds, where they should stay.

Stop running dogs down.

Name and address supplied to the editor

My concern is fur health and safety

While I do not want this to become an ongoing saga, I felt I must reply to J Edwards (last week's letters), who has totally missed my point.

I agree wholeheartedly that dogs are much-loved family members and that they enjoy their walks along the sands and indeed everything else that was pointed out.

But to me, it is purely a health and safety issue.

Either dogs are allowed in food establishments, or they're not?

VA Wells
Broadstairs

Turner is not 'a jewel' in the town

The Berlin Wall lives and is to be resurrected on Margate seafront, where it will be known as the Turner Centre.

LETTER OF THE WEEK

Cash is for Turner centre, and that's all

I felt the need to respond to last week's letter from Jennifer Pay of Ramsgate. It was yet another misguided rant at the plans for the Turner centre, which is soon to grace the harbour façade of Margate.

Ms Pay stated that of the people she had spoken to, not one of them felt "that the Turner Contemporary will be an asset in Thanet".

Well, Ms Pay, perhaps you should talk to people who have a mild understanding of where the money for this scheme is coming from. Perhaps you also need to get out of Ramsgate and talk to traders suffering in Margate.

Ramsgate has benefited from tens of millions of pounds of investment over the past decade, while Margate has been neglected. Margate has been hardest hit from the opening of Westwood Cross, and the investment in the Turner Contemporary and rejuvenation of the harbour area is a very welcome addition to a seaside town on its knees.

It is NOT Thanet District Council that is ignoring you, my dear, as it is not TDC's money. The funds for this great project are not coming from your council tax, either. Funding for the project is Arts Council money.

It amazes me that Thanetians cannot grasp this fact and continue to moan and groan about what the money could be spent on.

IT CANNOT BE SPENT ON ANYTHING OTHER THAN THE TURNER CONTEMPORARY.

If we don't build it, we will not get the money for something else. Get it? Any investment of this magnitude should be embraced, not scorned. The money cannot be spent on ice skating rinks, sealife centres, sports facilities, or anything else of that ilk. If the Turner Contemporary does not get built, the money will go to some other town that will build it.

What I can say is that I am wholeheartedly behind the project and it cannot come too soon.

I am a trader in Margate and feel the project will bring in many new visitors, perhaps not hundreds of thousands, but certainly more than visit the area at the moment. Stop griping and be thankful that the Arts Council still believes in Thanet. If all you are interested in is steel-type seating, Ms Pay, as stated at the end of your letter, then help us all.

Mark Websper
Margate

According to Thanet North MP Roger Gale, the architect responsible for the structure has created 'a jewel' – he displays a remarkable imagination in his choice of word.

This appalling eyesore that is being hailed as a masterpiece has as much artistic merit as Tracey Emin's celebrated bed, which at least induced laughter.

The 'Berlin Turner' is a humourless monstrosity that will surely not be allowed to pollute Margate sands?

Robert Muir
Westgate

Travelling a rough and painful road

I am absolutely furious about the state of the pavements in Thanet.

On October 10 I had the misfortune to turn my foot over on an uneven paving stone in Margate.

I consequently now have a badly sprained foot which is not getting any better.

I am seriously hoping that this is not going to turn into a permanent injury as I am a professional dancer and singer.

I am currently having to live on benefits, which are not enough to live on, so as a consequence I have lost three stone in weight as I cannot afford to buy much food.

I'm sorry to sound so bitter and twisted, but another upsetting aspect of my terrible injury was that while I was sitting on the pavement screaming in agony a young couple walked past and the teenage girl gave me a filthy look.

Young people today are so cold, unfeeling, unsympathetic and selfish.

A few months ago, I slipped over in Ramsgate in a pair of shoes that I had bought from a charity shop which I discovered had slippery soles.

A nice Chinese lady helped me up – that says a lot, doesn't it!

This island was beautiful once

This once-beautiful isle on which we live in has been spoilt forever.

The powers-that-be are playing games with us, for example the 1,300 houses being built on greenfield land to make Westwood Cross viable.

And with the number of students being moved to Westwood, roads in the area will be equivalent to a five-lane motorway being reduced to one lane.

If only the residents who raised concerns were listened to.

Thanet council, the Government bodies, both main parties, Thanet South MP Steve Ladyman – all have failed us.

Southwood? Northwood? Westwood? They should be renamed Southcrete, Northcrete and Westcrete. Stop building in Thanet – enough is enough.

Trevor Shonk
Ramsgate

Getting the facts on our brownfield sites

I am all for better public understanding of our planning systems, not least to promote recognition of the need for reform.

I have, therefore, to differ with Mrs Matterface (letters, October 24). She is mistaken on a number of points of fact, not least that it is not the Tories who are concreting over Thanet.

The document Planning Policy Statement 3 (PPS3), to which she refers, was and is not “planning law” and was not “passed last year”.

It does not hand any powers to local authorities. Nor, in itself, did it particularly change anything.

It is a guidance document. On page 26, it specifically defines gardens as “brownfield land”, or, to give it its full title, “previously-developed land”.

This includes the curtilage of any structure or development.

The only protection afforded to gardens is the much weaker concept of “invasion of green space”.

This is highly subjective, and in the real world is of particular weakness where existing infill building has taken place close by.

Mrs Matterface asks me to encourage my colleagues to examine brownfield sites.

I am happy to assure her that, of the 5,000 new homes imposed upon us by Westminster (it is not a “voluntary target”), more than three-quarters are indeed on brownfield land.

I am happy to assure her that an exhaustive analysis of available brownfield sites was undertaken in creating the plan. This is a very strong defence against unsuitable infill developments, and one I have cited in opposition to a number of applications.

We seem to be arguing to agree, but it pays to get all the facts right.

Cllr Ewen Cameron
Conservative, TDC, Bradstowe ward

Ignore environment at our own peril

To hear that Canterbury City Council has removed all mention of climate change and related environmental factors seems astonishing.

And, with Thanet just a few short miles away from Canterbury and a few feet from the shoreline, the impact here in coastal Kent seems potentially even more devastating.

With Kent County Council, as part of its Risk Register, evaluating both drought and flood, and the social consequences of such eco-disasters, as the highest threats facing the county, then it seems even more unusual decision.

And, with last year designated by the United Nations as the Year (against!) Desertification, then it is clear that climate change is increasingly a very real concern for us here in east Kent.

With news that the WWF rates Canterbury as having one of the heaviest carbon footprints of any city in Western Europe, I dread to think how Thanet's towns compare.

At Integrity Agency (www.integrityagency.co.uk), where we are concerned at Manston cargo airport, the pollution of Pegwell Bay and water quality in Margate, I hope that Thanet council is able to work with Canterbury in instigating real change in lifestyle, business, leisure, tourism, transport, education and third sector practices [non-governmental groups with social, environmental and cultural objectives].

The signs don't look good, but it's too important to fail.

Will Thanet council now not call for the establishment of a cross-party and cross-district code of green commission and standards?

YOUR WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY RUSSELL GRANT

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 - Feb 19)

IF you are given a choice between working for a flat salary and earning a commission, go for the commission-based deal. Using your sex appeal to change someone's mind could ultimately tarnish your reputation. A sudden raise or bonus sweetens your bank account. This week is wonderful for starting a new job or going on interviews.

TAURUS (Apr 21 - May 21)

A LOVE interest's compliments make you feel irresistible. It will be easy to work your charm on everyone you meet. Resist the urge to take advantage of someone who wants to please you. Think twice before making a move unless you intend to pursue a serious romance. A new partnership is possible, but it needs to begin on the right foot.

LEO (July 24 - Aug 23)

WORKING behind the scenes gives you a renewed sense of confidence. Resist the urge to buy a child or lover's affection, or they will feel manipulated. An exciting romantic rendezvous could satisfy an amorous urge. Don't be afraid to explore your deepest desires. Taking a class gives you the intellectual stimulation you crave.

You'll have a welcome chance to pursue private pleasures for the next month, take full advantage of this blissful trend. Adopting a new look is will be good.

PISCES (Feb 20 - Mar 20)

Be aggressive about pursuing your creative vision, people will defer to you based on your experience. Your unusual style sets you apart from the crowd and opens doors. If you feel as though your employer isn't paying you enough, negotiate for better perks. Getting your boss to pay for advanced training is a distinct possibility.

GEMINI (May 22 - Jun 22)

GO ahead and make an investment in your health. If your relatives don't approve of your partner, be prepared to defend your other half or cracks could start to appear in the foundation of your relationship. An exciting award, promotion, or raise could come your way. It's a pleasure to go into work this week.

VIRGO (Aug 24 - Sep 23)

Friends encourage you to put your skills to good use. Resist the urge to pressure a relative into an arrangement that makes them uncomfortable. It's better to preserve your relationship than get your way. You could be irresistibly drawn to a love interest that isn't your usual type. If you already have a partner, encourage them to take a bold risk.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23 - Dec 21)

A CLANDESTINE encounter adds spice to your life. Don't try to charm your way out of a problem with your employer. It's best to own up and accept the consequences of a mistake. Female friends will play an increasingly important role over the next month. Look to these ladies for support with a self improvement programme.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr 20)

YOU have the courage to break through limitations that were placed on you during childhood. Now you're older, you can spend time on the things you enjoy. Mixing business with pleasure may not be possible, as a colleague with could lord it over everyone else. An exciting new phase of your love life makes difficulties at work more bearable.

CANCER (Jun 23 - Jul 23)

YOUR attractive allure is evident to everyone, allowing you to wrap someone special around your little finger. If you're already in a relationship, take this opportunity to wine and dine your amour. A little romance goes a long way. Be honest with a colleague who is performing under par. A new romance, pregnancy, or creative project could take root.

LIBRA (Sep 24 - Oct 23)

YOUR ability to spin straw into gold is a major asset in the workforce. Use a recent success to ask for a raise, promotion, or corner office. An unusual job assignment could put more money in your pocket. Your charm, wit, and sophistication will be at an all time high for the next month; use these gifts to advance your agenda.

Of cowboys and astronauts

■ BY EMMA ROWLEY

WHERE have all the cowboys gone? Almost certainly to Texas, that most American of states, where even city-dwellers go about hatted and booted – as though they are more likely to ride a horse than a pick-up truck.

When you arrive on George Bush's home patch, you quickly find that the state's lone star flag is as common a sight as the stars and stripes, fluttering from anywhere possible.

To understand where the famous Texan pride comes from, a visit to The Alamo in San Antonio is the obvious place to start. Texans take their history very seriously. It was here, at a former chapel, that a motley band of vastly outnumbered rebels fought to the death against the Mexican army to safeguard their independence.

Not all the stereotypes hold true, though. Forget the desert scenes from cowboy films – Texas is a surprisingly lush state, and its cities are spacious and green. In addition to its cowboy roots, modern Texas is rather proud to have a cultured side.

The McNay Art Museum in San Antonio is the former home of Marion Koogler McNay, who built up a fabulous collection of art. Her legacy is breathtaking: a Spanish-influenced mansion where each room is packed with Renoirs, Monets and Picassos.

CITY: The Texas skyline is strikingly different to the stereotypical image of George Bush's home state

Another San Antonio highlight is a boat ride through the city. The river is banked by bars and restaurants, many of which are happy to arrange a meal for you onboard your barge.

We were served a summery menu by Hotel Contessa and serenaded by a mariachi band. Indeed the Mexican influence on the city, as for much of Texas, is marked, noticeably in the food: delicious tacos, tortillas and burritos are served up in abundance. Throughout the state the food is plentiful, tasty and cheap – which may explain many Texans' waistlines.

From San Antonio we went to Austin, a relatively short drive, made worthwhile by stopping at the tiny outpost that is Luckenbach. It boasts a wooden cabin general store/post office, where musicians play in the back to passers-by. It's the only stop you need make to experience the best of rural Texas.

Houston could not be more different. Everything is bigger in Texas – and nowhere is that more evident than in this city, the focus of the Texan oil industry. According to one city-dweller, Houston sprawls across 70 miles: this is a city built for the car.

Houston also boasts a thriving museum district, ranging from the vast Houston Museum of Natural Science, which has its own butterfly house, to The Buffalo Soldiers National Museum, which uses actors to tell the history of the legendary all-black regiments, from their civil war beginnings to desegregation.

More recent history comes in the form of NASA's Johnson Space Center. For me, the highlight was stepping into the control centre that received the famous and chilling call: "Houston, we have a problem". It still houses the computers used to bring home the astronauts on the Apollo 13 mission. Looking at the clunky machines, it seems a miracle they ever made it into space, let alone came home again.

From ranch settlers to space explorers, it seems Texas still retains that old pioneering spirit.

DEAD: Robert Haines was shot during New Romney raid

PRISON: Dean Jenkins was jailed for 17 years

PRISON: Ben Grehan was jailed for 12 years

PRISON: David Jenkins was jailed for 10 years

Three jail sentences and a funeral for 'ruthless' gang

THE three robbers who saw the fourth member of their gang shot dead by police have all been handed hefty jail sentences for a series of raids on security vans.

They were arrested almost exactly a year ago after they were caught by waiting armed officers in New Romney High Street.

Bob Haines, 41, a bouncer from Challock, opened fire with his sawn-off shotgun and he was immediately brought down by a police marksman.

The other three were arrested and quickly linked to a series of raids across the county.

All of the raids were carried out by ambushing security vans delivering large quantities of cash to building societies in Strood, Paddock Wood, Birchington, New Romney and Herne Bay.

In total, the robberies netted almost £340,000.

On Friday, David Jenkins, 61, a maintenance manager from Ashford, was found not guilty of the firearms offence but guilty of robbery and he was sentenced to 10 years.

Balaclava

His accomplices, who had already admitted conspiracy to commit armed robbery, were jailed as well.

Dean Jenkins, 40, a company director from Rainham, was sentenced to 17 years, and Ben Grehan, 22, a scaffolder from south London, to 12 years.

Each robbery was committed at night and at the moment when the last cash was being delivered.

In every case a man appeared wearing a balaclava and dark clothes and carrying a sawn-off shotgun which he used to threaten guards and order them to hand over cash.

Judge Philip Statman said the robberies were "ruthless" and commended both Kent police and members of the Metropolitan Police Flying Squad for their part in bringing the offenders to justice.

Detective Chief Inspector Tim Smith, who led the investigation, said: "The incidents involved innocent people being threatened and in some cases violence was used against them, resulting in, without a doubt, them being in fear of their lives."

"This disregard for others and the seriousness of the crime has been reflected by the sentences imposed."

"We have worked together with the Crown Prosecution Service to take these dangerous men off the streets of Kent. Kent police will deal with armed robberies robustly and thoroughly, and offenders will be brought before the courts."

Detective Chief Inspector Steve Richardson from the Flying Squad added: "These three men played significant roles in a series of violent armed robberies, where guns were used to intimidate guards."

"The robbery of cash in transit companies is not a victimless crime, with the delivery guards often suffering physically and physiologically."

"The Flying Squad will continue to work with the industry and other forces to prevent and apprehend robbers of this nature."

Let's talk about sex (and relationships)

SEX education for young people should focus more on relationships and emotions than it does, according to a survey.

A total of 4,000 people aged 15 to 20 were quizzed by the University of Kent on what matters to them when it comes to learning about personal issues.

Author Jenny Billings said education was failing teenagers because it was not relevant to their needs.

"They know the physical side – they know how to put the condom on the banana in the classroom setting," she said.

"But they don't know about negotiating the sexual relationship."

THE LOOKOUT (15)

Cate's age of confrontation

■ BY SHEREEN LOW

WITH her regal stature and ethereal beauty, Cate Blanchett was born to play a queen.

The Australian actress has reprised her award-winning role as Queen Elizabeth I in Elizabeth: The Golden Age almost 10 years since her high-profile debut in Elizabeth.

Dressed in a black sequinned top and wide-legged black trousers, Cate reveals why it has taken so long for the film to be made.

"The structure to this film is quite different," she says, "I wasn't ready for a long time, but they came back with a really interesting script, at the centre of which was a woman who was coming to terms with the fact she was ageing. This is unlike the last time where there was a boy meets girl story and a love triangle."

"I needed to get older, otherwise there's no real story. While the first film was about denial – a woman denying herself in order to rule – this was more about acceptance, and a woman who was having to confront the fact that she was ageing and what that meant."

"It's pertinent to both women and men, that whole fear of ageing which was a huge issue for Elizabeth."

Cate, who was also crowned elf queen Galadriel in the Lord Of The Rings trilogy, has a great admiration for the first Queen Elizabeth.

She says: "I find her incredibly inspiring. She had an amazing intellect and an ability to work her way through uncharted waters while negotiating a minefield of political associations and still keeping everything afloat."

"She was also an incredible patron of the arts, which I find utterly inspiring. The poetry of the time, the music, the literature, the birth of English theatre, Shakespeare is all there in a large part, I think, due to her patronage."

MAJESTIC: Cate Blanchett's graceful beauty and imposing stature makes her perfect for the role of a queen

She adds, more poignantly: "When making the film we thought a lot about Diana, Princess of Wales."

"Although we don't know how much is propaganda, one of the things that is repeatedly written about Elizabeth is that she often went out with very little guard and walked around and shook people's hands. So she was able to somehow be untouchable and remote, and also incredibly accessible."

"We were reminded of Diana in terms capturing the public's imaginations and that public feeling that they could connect."

Cate, a mother-of-two, who has been married to Australian playwright and screenwriter Andrew Upton for almost 10 years, said playing the role made her grateful for her own family life and relationships.

"I wouldn't like to be as isolated as she was. I'm lucky I've got a private life that happily and richly balances my work life."

The actress prefers to stay out of the spotlight so she can bring up her two sons – six-year-old Dashiell and three-year-old Roman.

But Cate, who is also starring in the fourth installment of the Indiana Jones franchise – Indiana Jones And The Kingdom Of The Crystal Skull – as well as playing a younger version of music icon Bob Dylan in I'm Not There, isn't sure about completing the Elizabeth trilogy.

"Who knows? We'll have to see how this one does, I think," she says.

African bike adventure goes a long way down

■ BY ANDY WELCH

EVEN though Ewan McGregor and Charley Boorman have just ridden from the tip of Scotland to the southern-most point of Africa across some of the most hazardous terrain on the planet, they can't afford to take time off to relax.

"It's been extremely busy since we got back," says Ewan. "There's an awful lot of stuff you have to deal with after three months away. And we could have gone on longer. When we got to Cape Town at the end of the trip there was a terrible temptation to just turn around and go back up. I didn't want to stop."

The draw of their families, which both admit to missing horrendously, was enough to see that they returned, but not before a quick trip to Kenya with their wives and children to revisit a few of their favourite spots.

The duo completed their first mammoth trip around three years ago, and their travels could be seen in Long Way Round, their first series for the BBC. On their motorcycles, and followed by a small support crew, Ewan and Charley rode from London to New York, but as the title of their escapade suggests, they didn't merely cross the Atlantic to get to the Big Apple. Instead, they rode through France, Belgium, Germany, Czech Republic, Slovakia, Ukraine, Russia, Kazakhstan, Mongolia and Canada before finally reaching their destination.

It was a gruelling trip, but not tough enough to put them off trying something else. The actors, who became best friends after meeting on the set of 1997 film The Serpent's Kiss, originally mentioned the possibility of another journey on Jonathan Ross's chat show some time ago, but it only came to fruition this year. And two shows into the six-part series – Long Way Down – viewers are hooked again.

"The preparations were much smoother this time," says Ewan, looking nothing like a film star in workman's boots, jeans and a fleece jacket. "We knew what we wanted to take and what we didn't want to take, and we knew we wanted to go on the BMW bikes."

If preparations were smoother, the trip was more difficult than their previous effort which introduced thousands to adventure biking.

"It was definitely different," ponders Ewan. "Because we'd done Long Way Round, we were all looking for unique things and sometimes that was conflicting. It caused some moments that weren't as harmonious as others. That's a nice way of putting it, isn't it?" he beams with a trademark smile.

"I think if you spend that much time together," adds Charley, "you know, you're bound to have the odd bicker. You'd be spectacularly odd if you didn't. But we'd get time on our own when we were riding."

The journey this time around had Ewan and Charley riding down through the UK, across France and through the Alps into Italy. From there, they crossed to Tunisia and began the mammoth African leg of their journey which would have them visiting Libya, Egypt, Sudan, Ethiopia, Kenya, Uganda, Rwanda, Tanzania, Malawi, Zambia, Namibia and Botswana, before finally making their way to Cape Agulhas, the southern-most point of the continent. So, what did Africa have in store?

"People would hear we were going there and say 'Of course, you'll be macheted'. I'd ask whereabouts, and they'd say, 'Everywhere'," laughs Ewan.

Many readers may already know a fair bit about Charley and Ewan's trip thanks to the website which they regularly contributed to using the latest satellite technology.

"Next time, if there is a next time," adds Charley quickly, considering the implications of what he's just said. "If there were enough people saying 'You should go and do this', we could go off and do it."

Next time?

"We've only just got back!" he cries!

PROPERTY NEWS

Modern proposals for regeneration

CONTINUED regeneration plans across Thanet have been announced in the Kent Property Market Report 2007 produced by Kent County Council, Cluttons and Locate in Kent.

The report says that planning applications for development schemes at EuroKent and Manston business parks are being prepared.

Margate Renewal Partnership's regeneration programme includes the development of Turner Contemporary as a key element. A planning application is expected to be submitted shortly.

Thanet council and KCC have short-listed four developers to prepare proposals for a mixed-use development at the adjacent Rendezvous site. A masterplan will be announced in December.

Also shown is the planned reduction of Fort Hill road into a single carriageway to improve pedestrian access.

Further improvements have been announced to the pier and Margate's Old Town. Paigle Properties, which acquired the Lido site in August, is expected to submit a planning application to include the restoration of the Lido swimming pool, a 200-bed hotel with leisure development and 400-500 apartments.

Are we taking any notice of HIPs?

ONLY 10 per cent of people read HIPs, according to research carried out by Spicerhaart's, Europe's largest independent estate agency.

Paul Broadhead, deputy director general at the Association of Home Information Pack Providers (AHIPP), said: "As far as AHIPP is concerned, it is too early to make any firm conclusions about the way consumers use HIPs as we are only half way through the rollout of HIPs into the market since August 1."

"Consumers are not not reading HIPs out of choice – they are simply not being advised that a HIP is available in a large number of cases."

"Buyers are not being given a HIP automatically – instead they are having to request it specifically from the estate agent, so this figure does not surprise me."

"We have just issued an updated version of our HIP handling guide, which states that once estate agents receive the HIP it should be made available to buyers immediately for their information."

Now's time to invest in the rental market

■ BY JENNY SANTOS

AT a time of uncertainty in the housing market, letting agents across Kent are reporting a shortage of rental properties.

The Association of Rental Lettings Agents (ARLA) has released a report stating that tenant demand now outstrips supply in all sectors of the rental market. ARLA says this is consistent with the traditional pattern of 'softening' house prices leading to a growing requirement for rental accommodation.

Julian Sparkes, of Broadstairs letting specialist Belmonte, said: "Business in the last three months has been the highest ever, but stocks to let are not being replenished. Two-bedroom houses with parking for young professionals are in particular demand."

So, despite widespread speculation of a decline in the buy-to-let market, industry experts are advising potential investors that now is a good time to buy.

Property investment specialist Assetz sees the current climate as a good opportunity for investors.

Stuart Law, chief executive, said: "While the market has been subject to much speculation and turmoil over the last few months, there is significant evidence to suggest that for those taking a medium- to long-term perspective, now is an excellent time to invest in buy-to-let property."

According to ARLA's last quarterly figures, the average weekly rental income for the South East is £345 per week for houses and £215 per week for flats, putting rents at an all-time high. It is predicted that the growth in rents will continue.

Coupled with an increasing number of forced sellers discounting their property and bank base rates expected to fall, we could be approaching the most profitable rental income situation for years.

ARLA has just published its annual guide – The ARLA, CML Guide To Buy To Let – in association with the Council of Mortgage Lenders (CML).

Malcolm Harrison, ARLA spokesman, said the aim of the guide was to "clarify the role of investment in residential rental housing and counter any market misunderstandings".

For landlords and tenants, it covers the defini-

GUIDE: As demand outstrips supply, a new report says this could be the ideal time to buy-to-let tion of buy-to-let, the opportunities and obligations that go with it, tenancy agreements, tenancy deposit protection, insurance, legal requirements and tax.

It is a useful resource for all those considering dipping a tentative toe into the rental property market.

The guide can be picked up at ARLA-registered letting agents and downloaded from www.arla.co.uk.

MOTORS NEWS

Big discount makes a massive deal on Micra

BAILEYS Nissan in Canterbury is highlighting an £800 discount for the revised 2008 model Micra hatchback until December 14.

The deal on the mid-level Acenta brings Bluetooth phone integration, drive computer, speed limit warning, air-conditioning, six-speaker CD system with MP3 jack socket, rear sliding seat, electric door mirrors and front windows.

With the discount, this cuts the price for this well-equipped model to just £7,995.

Baileys' dealer principal Brian Smith said: "The Nissan Micra offers incredible specification at amazing value."

Local reflection on record 'Landie' sales

LAND ROVER sales have hit all-time record levels globally and the local news is good too says Barretts Land Rover at Canterbury and Ashford.

Dealer principal Mark Nicholas said: "Our sales are up five to 10 per cent on 2006 according to model. The Discovery 3 is now our oldest car, but keeps winning awards, while demand for the Range Rover Sport and new Defender is strong. The latest Freelander is our best seller though – its predecessor was good, but the new car is a huge step forward."

Mazda6 is voted used car of the year 2007

MAZDA launches an all-new and more premium Mazda6 into the family car/executive saloon sector soon, after a reminder of its (pictured) predecessor's strengths.

It has just been judged Used Car of The Year 2007 by What Car? magazine, beating more than 3,000.

What Car? used car editor Matt Sanger said the winner was "A great combination of value, reliability and desirability, alongside its fine handling and driving abilities."

SPEED MERCHANT: With striking 'liquid yellow' paintwork and also featuring Renault F1 decals on all sides and the roof, the Clio RenaultSport 197 is hard to miss...

dles it in style. Handling and grip is also exemplary due to the lowered and stiffened 'Cup Chassis', now available as an option on the 'standard' Renaultsport 197.

Even more amazing is that this impressive chassis does not have the obvious downside of a teeth jarring ride.

The car's close-ratio six-speed 'box is slick enough for spirited driving, accompanied by a great soundtrack as you flick up and down; track day fans will love the fact that electronic stability control can be switched off for ultimate fun and games.

It might feel a bit wearing on the motorway home though; the close-set gearing means that even top doesn't free you from the throaty grumble of that engine.

For a car costing more than £17,000 there is also still evidence of links with cheaper versions of the Clio, even though the fit and finish of the current range is superior to the past and also brings roominess and practicality.

On the other hand you do get those Recaro seats, plus alloy pedals and chunky leather-clad wheel. No, Renault won't struggle to sell 500 F1s.

USED CAR ROUND-UP: OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

COMPACT EXECUTIVE SALOONS

GERMAN marques dominate the compact executive saloon market – BMW's 3-Series is a top-10 seller in the UK. But there are good desirable and affordable alternatives for used car buyers seeking a little extra class and comfort without 'going German'. Opt for models that have the most extra goodies on them, because the premium you pay for these will be far less than the original private or company buyer had paid; you could get sat nav and leather, for instance for a few hundred pounds rather than several thousand.

carsfor Kent.co.uk

LEXUS IS200

TOYOTA'S luxury arm used the BMW 3-Series as a benchmark for its first compact exec and hit the mark for style, value and driver appeal, but sales were hamstrung by the lack of a diesel. The IS200 also felt underpowered, but was juicy, while the rarer IS300 had the grunt, but was even thirstier. That said the IS-Series makes a great used buy with lots of kit and presence, while the second generation car is still rare on the used market.

JAGUAR X-TYPE

THIS brave attempt to attack dominant German models was affected by taunts that it was a re-worked Ford Mondeo. But this has proved unfair when the X-Type handles so well in both front and four-wheel drive formats. It is also affordable and has built a reputation for reliability, comfort and driver appeal. There is even an estate that is attractive and practical though it does command a premium second-hand. Best of all, there are two quality diesel options.

SAAB 9-3

THERE is a lot of Vauxhall underneath the Saab, but nothing wrong with that in terms of reliability and durability, especially when clothed by a low slung sleeky body that deserves the 9-3's 'Sport Saloon' tag. Where the Swede has also scored is with a line-up of sporty yet frugal diesels. For used car buyers, prices should also become more attractive for older examples following a recent radical 9-3 facelift that will become increasingly common on the road.

EMPLOYMENT IS THE GOAL, EDUCATION IS THE KEY

Rainer City Training Solent has an outstanding track record of engaging with under supported young people. Our entry to employment programme (e2e) achieved a 72% success rate, with learners progressing into work, education or further training. Building on our successes in the Solent area we are now establishing our e2e provision in Kent. We are looking for an educational practitioner who can communicate their passion for learning to our young people.

Learning & Employment Co-ordinator

Up to £25,402

Kent – Swale, Thanet & Medway

Ideal for an experienced teacher or trainer, this peripatetic role involves developing and delivering our E2E programme through community based venues in Swale, Thanet and Medway. You'll induct, guide and support E2E learners – assessing their needs and working with them to establish an appropriate Learning Plan. Having done so, you'll then provide training, monitor progress and forge links with other agencies involved in programme delivery.

To meet this challenge, you'll need qualifications in such areas as teaching, training and counselling in the development of learning. An understanding of NVQs and Key Skills is important too, as is the ability to record information. Crucially, you must also be able to communicate with, and relate to, young adults – particularly those who are under supported.

BELIEVING IN YOUNG PEOPLE

Successful candidates will be required to consent to checks by the Criminal Records Bureau and like the idea of service users having a say in their appointment.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Invest in skills time for leisure and tourism

A SERIES of free one-day training courses is being offered to leisure and tourism businesses.

Courses include management, communication and e-business training and will be held in the workplace or venue.

Fran Warrington, head of Kent Tourism, which is organising the sessions, said: "For a relatively small investment of time, tourism industry staff can gain valuable new skills and abilities which they can put to work immediately."

Ten participants are needed for each course. Where a company can not commit this number of staff, there is a possibility of combining with other businesses.

Phone Kent Tourism on 01622 696936.

Sick figures for work days lost in South East

THE Health and Safety Commission says 4.8 million working days have been lost in the South East during 2006-7 due to workplace injury and ill health.

Statistics published by the HSC also reveal that there were 35 fatal injuries to workers, 3,484 reported major injuries to employees, and 12,880 cases of ill health to employees, which led to more than three days off work.

Overall, the statistics show a 0.37 per cent decrease in injuries in the South East over the past year, compared with a four per cent decline in the UK as a whole.

The report showed the construction industry was the most hazardous area of work.

Successful cash payouts for company tax claims

INNOVATIVE science and technology companies in Kent have received a share of £51.5 million in cash payments from HM Revenue & Customs' specialist Research & Development Unit (R&D) in the last year.

The Maidstone unit, which covers Kent, Sussex and parts of Essex and London, has dealt with almost 1,000 claims in the last year with the figures published on the unit's first anniversary.

Further information on the HMRC's new specialist R&D tax credits units is available online at www.hmrc.gov.uk/randd/special-units.htm.

Industry leaders' desire to play active part in the community

BUSINESSES should be at the heart of every community in Kent, according to a new survey.

Eighty-four per cent of business leaders across the county felt they should play an active part in schools and community projects.

The heads of more than 200 organisations and companies, including chambers of commerce, professional bodies and trade organisations, took part in the study carried out by the South East of England Development Agency.

Forty-seven per cent of company chiefs in Kent felt business prospects for the next six months look the same as the last half year, but 23 per cent said the outlook was better.

Disturbingly, 22 per cent of those quizzed felt the forecast was bleak.

Only 32 per cent of business leaders said

BY JON COATES

Kent was a good place to invest or run a successful organisation, while 41 per cent thought it was average.

The study also asked what the main factors enabling companies in the county to thrive and grow are.

Twenty-five per cent said it was customer focus, 19 per cent pointed to exporting and international trade, while 14 per cent rated creativity and innovation, and sales and marketing.

The survey also found that 40 per cent of those quizzed felt it was feasible to reduce the carbon footprint of businesses, while 26 per cent argued it was not.

The local factors which affects business growth were named as bad transport, by 26 per cent; drugs, drink and violence, by 15 per cent; and expensive or scarce housing, by 15 per cent.

SEEDA carried out the survey as part of its last call for entries for its first South East Business Awards.

Jeff Alexander, executive director of SEEDA's global competitiveness division, said: "We aim to get to the heart of the needs of our local business communities and this research highlights the factors that make a thriving environment and pinpoint areas for development."

"That is why the South East Business Awards will showcase outstanding business achievements so far."

Companies can apply for the awards at www.southeastbusinessawards.co.uk. Closing date for applications is November 28 and winners will be announced on March 6.

Cross-country battle under way

UPTON SCHOOL has a commanding lead in the Thanet Primary Schools Cross Country League, after 11 top-three finishes.

The team competition is based on points scored by the first three finishers from each school in every race of the season.

St Saviour's and St Nicholas-at-Wade are locked together, as expected, in what should be a hard-fought battle for second place.

Haddon Dene, with perhaps their strongest team so far, lead the small schools competition, where the first two finishers score. The next meeting will be at St Saviour's on Saturday, February 9.

Trinity swoop in for victory

TRINITY under-8s continue to show their class as they roared to an emphatic 7-0 victory over title chasers Canterbury Eagles.

Harvey Laws set the tone to give the home side the lead, before doubling the advantage midway through the first half with another clinical strike.

Trinity's counter-attacking style was too much for Canterbury as Mallon grabbed the third from close range and Halfpenny burst through to make it four.

Canterbury continued to battle, but firm defending from Tom Fleet, Lewis Clarke and Kieran Laws held the visitors at bay.

Halfpenny completed his brace with an exquisite turn before powering a shot home. Strike partner Adam Campbell worked tirelessly up front and was rewarded a goal with a solo finish.

The best goal was saved to last as a four man move left Campbell to fire home with only the keeper to beat.

WELL BEATEN: Thanet could not build on last week's win against Basingstoke as they conceded four tries in each half without reply to lose away at Worthing

Thanet fail to capitalise on last week's victory

THANET WANDERERS were unable to build on their first victory last weekend as they were crushed 54-0 on the Sussex coast.

Worthing took the lead in the third minute with a Duncan Taylor penalty and never looked back after snuffing out all of Thanet's attacks on their line.

Aurelien Decerf, Tom Ash and Yan N'Dong were unfortunate not to score for Thanet as the final part of each move did not go to hand.

Worthing's confidence grew as they continued to shut Thanet out and they went on to score four tries in the first half, which took them to half-time 25-0 up.

Decerf, who has shown in the past few weeks his strength, was taken out of the game by Worthing's centre and Thanet were forced to replace him with Tom Longdon.

Longdon made inroads into Worthing's defence, but Thanet were unable to make their dominance pay.

RUGBY

■ BY GLENN PEARSON

Worthing 54 Thanet Wanderers 0

For all of Thanet's pressure at the beginning of the second half, it was Worthing again who broke through the line to score after six minutes of the re-start.

Thanet's task was made even more difficult as hooker Craig Smith received a yellow card for dissent after pointing out to the referee that he had been tackled illegally.

Despite being a man down, Thanet held Worthing at bay until the last ten minutes, when Worthing ran in four more tries to make the final score 54-0.

Wanderers went into the game with some confidence, after registering their first league win in London 1 last week against visitors Basingstoke.

However, Thanet were unable to make an impression on the home side's defence, although they had retained much of the ball. Worthing disrupted many of Thanet's lineouts and used the touch lines as an extra man against Thanet's swift-footed backs.

The Wanderers were disappointed not to have capitalised on their win recent win, but remain in a confident mood for Sutton and Epsom's visit on Saturday.

Geoff Redmond, the club's secretary, said it will be a tough season for the team but they hope to string some wins together to help them escape relegation.

He said: "We are a young amateur team playing against strong semi-professional teams. We are a community rugby club for local people and that is how we are going to keep it. We are doing OK."

"We know there are two or three teams at the top who are going to fight for the league, while the rest of us scrap for points. Thankfully we have got those teams out of the way."

Rams manager: 'I'm happy with what I've got'

TIGHTER BELT: Jim Ward won't be spending any more money

RAMSGATE manager Jim Ward will not be spending any money on new players despite netting the club a "substantial amount" for the sale of striker Shaun Welford.

Welford left the Southwood Stadium last week and returned to Ryman Division One South side Dover Athletic, after three years leading the attack for Ramsgate.

The striker scored five times for the Rams this season, including a hat-trick against Maidstone United earlier in the campaign.

Welford's departure means the club's younger strikers will have an opportunity to form partnerships and lead the line as Ramsgate look to secure a play-off position in the Ryman Premier League.

Ward has plenty of option up front with Steffan Ball, Stuart King, Scott Holden and Stuart Vahid to choose from.

Right-back Laurence Ball has joined the Rams on a season-long loan as part of the Welford deal.

Ward said: "He is prepared to get up and down the line and he will now be an important part of my squad."

"Welford wanted to go. I have a substantial amount of money from the sale but I don't want to spend any of it on new players. I am happy with what I have got – you can never say never, but at this moment in the season I do not want to bring any more players in."

Ramsgate were without a fixture on Saturday, much to the annoyance of Ward who had hoped to continue his side's excellent form after wins against leaders Chelmsford and Hastings.

His side climbed to third in the Ryman Premier League with the 4-1 win last Tuesday night against Hastings, thanks to goals from Nick Davis, Steffan Ball, Stuart King and Andy Hadden.

The Rams are next in action away to Boreham Wood on Saturday.

Ramsgate reserves were in action at the weekend where they recorded a fine 5-4 victory over Thanet rivals, Margate.

An 85th minute goal from Scott Holden won the game for a strong Rams side, who included new signing Laurence Ball in their team.

Leamington 1 Margate 1

A PENALTY from James Pinnock six minutes from time rescued Margate and kept their FA Trophy dreams alive.

Robin Trott's side fell behind early on but clawed their way back into the match late on to extend their unbeaten run to six games.

Margate played with a 3-4-3 formation with Justin Skinner, Louis Smith and Dan Young forming the back line, with Charley Side, Rob Haworth and Pinnock up front.

Leamington came into the game in excellent form, topping their league table with seven consecutive wins. The Warwickshire side started well and were ahead after three minutes when Ben Mackey buried a low shot into the corner from 20 yards.

Jimmy Jackson had Gate's first clear attempt at goal with a free-kick on 28 minutes, which was tipped over for a corner.

Mackey had a good chance to double Leamington's lead just before the break, but goalkeeper Scott Chalmers-Stevens did well to force the striker wide.

Trott changed to a flat back four after the break, but the hosts were still on top and won a penalty on 66 minutes when Side brought down Marcus Jackson.

Mackey hesitated in his run-up but Chalmers-Stevens guessed correctly and saved.

The save changed the game as Margate became an attacking force and won a penalty of their own after 84 minutes. Pinnock made no mistake with his kick to level the match.

The draw set up a replay at Hartsdown Park, played last night.

PLAYED WELL: Ville began well but conceded defeat

Three late strikes hands Ville their second loss

CLIFTONVILLE came within five minutes of a morale-boosting win against high-flying Sevenoaks but conceded three late strikes to lose their second league match of the season.

Ville knew it was going to be a hard game, but the hosts started well, slickly moving the ball across the pitch and linking up promisingly in midfield.

The home defence quickly closed down any Sevenoaks attacks and controlled most of the early exchanges.

Despite being on top, Sevenoaks showed their threat and took the lead on 10 minutes when Ville conceded a short corner.

The visitors cleverly set up with four stoppers in different positions, which momentarily confused the defenders.

Sevenoaks took advantage of the confusion with a good strike from the top of the D, which was deflected in at the left post.

Ville responded to the setback with a series of quick passes and some excellent ball control which saw Mark Tiley score from the top of the D with a terrific reverse stick strike into the bottom corner. The goal sent the sides in level at the break and Ville took the lead after 45 minutes through James Perks.

The game plunged into confusion with five minutes remaining when the match was paused due to some debate between umpires and players over carding decisions.

When the game restarted 10 minutes later, Ville switched off and poor decision-making at the back led to three Sevenoaks penalties which left the goalkeeper helpless.

The home side deserved to take something from the game, but they paid the price for a lack of concentration late on.

Cliftonville play league leaders Bexley Invicta on Saturday as they bid to end a run of four games without a win.

Stones rolled in to stop Ville's unbeaten record

CLIFTONVILLE IV lost their first game of the season 6-0 against league leaders Maidstone on Saturday.

Ville only had 10 players available for the trip and played the first 10 minutes without a recognised goalkeeper.

The hosts took full advantage and built a 3-0 lead by the break. The second half saw Ville play fluent, skilful hockey, creating numerous chances.

A lack of killer instinct cost them as Maidstone scored three goals on the break.
